City Officials Get Bid to Study New Elimination Plans

Mayor and Others Will Make Trip to New York Friday; Specific Nature of Proposals Is Not Known

Surveys Complete

Engineers Recently Completed Study of Crossings of New York Central Railroad

Tentative plans for the elimination of the 10 railroad grade crossings of the New York Central Railroad in Kingston have been completed and will be inspected by Mayor C. J. Heiselman and a group of city officials in the New York City on Friday morning.

Mayor Heiselman this morning said he had received word from J. W. Pfau, chief engineer of the New York Central Lines, that the preliminary plans had been completed and were ready for inspection by the officials of Kingston. The mayor said he would be in New York City Friday morning to inspect the plans and discuss them with the railroad officials.

Official to Attend

Others who will inspect the plans and attend the conference with the railroad officials are Alderman-at-Large John J. Chwenk, Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin, City Engineer James Norton and Sanitary Engineer Edward McCaffery.

The mayor, in response to questions, said that he had no idea of what the plans were as no copies of the plan had been received here. He said that a staff of engineers of the railroad had been working for some time making surveys in Kingston, and as a result of the surveys the plans to be inspected and discussed had been prepared.

A petition was submitted by the city to the state public service commission some time ago asking that the railroad eliminate the ten grade crossings in Kingston by depressing the railroad tracks under the streets. This petition followed action by the common council, which instructed City Engineer Norton to prepare preliminary plans and estimate of the cost.

The city engineer carried out the request of the common council and had surveys made and estimates that the cost of eliminating the ten crossings would be approximately $4,500,000.

The matter of eliminating the Broadway crossing of the West Shore Railroad has been an issue in Kingston for the last quarter century, and although a number of plans were prepared and discussed nothing definite was done. The majority of the plans called for eliminating the crossing by depressing Broadway under the railroad tracks. These plans, however, were objected to by the business interests along central Broadway, who held that the elimination should be done by depressing the tracks and not the street.

The state public service commission at one time issued an order directing that work of eliminating the Broadway crossing be started, but the order was never put into effect as the railroad claimed it was not financially able to go ahead with the project.

At the present time the state legislature is considering a bill that has been introduced which would have the state defray the entire cost of the elimination of grade crossings, except that the railroad would pay not in excess of 15 per cent of the entire elimination cost for any improvement that would be made.

March Comes Mildly

Springlike weather ushered in the month of March today with the official city thermometer giving a reading of 42 degrees above zero, but the weather man is promising colder weather this evening and Thursday. That spring is not far away was shown this morning when Jesse Banks of Boulder avenue reported the arrival of a large flock of robins in Forsyth Park. He said that the birds were extremely hungry which was a sign that they had just arrived from the south.

5,000 Aliens Dropped

Columbus, O., March 1 (AP)—Five thousand aliens have been dropped from Ohio Works Progress Administration rolls and WPA officials estimated today the number would reach 6,000 by the end of this week. The dismissals were made mandatory under a recently enacted relief appropriation act.

Six Dead in Trolley Crash

Six persons were killed and nearly two score were reported injured when this street car left its track in Boston, swerved across a highway and crashed into trees. The injured were rushed to nearby hospitals and homes. A broken brake on the trolley was blamed by Boston Elevated Company officials as the cause of the smashup. The trolley, suddenly out of control on an incline, failed to negotiate a turn, hurtled across a broad intersection and careened into a tree. Edward F. Hanley, 57, the operator, was released in $2,000 bail after being hooked on a technical manslaughter charge.

Lehman Asks 3 Millions Boost In Budget Amid Economy Talk

Britain Boosts Her Army Budget, Sets Peace-Time High

Chamberlain Wins Commons Vote of Approval, 344 to 137, for Recognition of Spanish Nationalists

(By The Associated Press)

Britain boosted her army budget estimates to a new peace-time high today while the Spanish civil war remained in a stalemate which anxious Europe hoped was a prelude to permanent peace.

New army estimates for the 1939-40 fiscal year were $805,665,000 compared with $522,300,000 for that arm of Britain's defenses in the previous year. Defense cost estimates brought the British budget beyond £1,000,000,000 ($5,000,000,000) for the first time.

The Spanish Republican government, still clinging to one-fourth of Spain, met in secret session far into the night but no word was disclosed of any decision to cease or to continue resistance against the Nationalists.

Generalissimo Franco held 500,000 troops in readiness for an offensive against Republican territory in the Madrid regime holds out in spite of the fact that most of Europe considers Franco victorious and further Republican resistance futile.

In Berlin Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering reiterated his confidence in Germany's airforce which he said was "the terror of our enemies and we are determined to keep it that way."

Murphy Pledges Justice Department Help to Dies

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Attorney General Murphy pledged the support of the justice department today to the Dies committee on Un-American Activities.

He wrote Rep. Dempsey (D-NM), a committee member, that while the department could not assign regularly a group of investigators, it probably would help out on specific requests for aid.

"If the committee will indicate what sort of work it has in mind," Murphy said, "it may be possible to designate a member of my staff who could be relieved of his duties in this department and be employed by the committee for the time being."

The attorney general said the federal bureau of investigation was so overburdened with regular work that it could not afford to lend a group of men for any length of time.

Murphy also said federal district attorneys at New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco would assist committee investigators in preparing sub-

New Spending Recommendations are Included in Supplemental Budget, Which Additional Charges, Governor Lehman Declares Are 'Beyond Executive Discretion'

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—A $3,350,000 increase of his already record high $411,682,122 budget for 1939-40 was proposed today by Governor Lehman as legislators talked "economy" and state civil service workers fought any salary cuts.

The new spending recommendations were included in a supplemental budget submitted by Lehman, who said the "additional charges are beyond executive discretion."

Two Men Are Held For Abducting Boy

Friend of George Katz Is Said to Have Confessed He and Aide Sought $7,000

New York, March 1 (AP)—A friend of George Katz, Brooklyn race track bookmaker, who acted as intermediary in the ransom of Katz's four-year-old son, Michael, was held by police today as one of two men who kidnaped the boy February 20.

Capt. Frank C. Bals said that Charles Mitchell, 31, the intermediary, and Sol Schwartz, 29, employed with him in the shipping department of a lithographing firm, had confessed the kidnapping.

Looked up for further questioning was Mrs. Nellie Resnick, 31, Schwartz's sister, in whose apartment authorities said the boy was held.

Later all three were booked at police headquarters—the men on kidnapping charges and the woman on a charge of withholding information about a kidnapping from police, which is a felony.

The two men, Capt. Bals said, told him they recruited Michael in an attempt to recover $5,000 lost in racing bets placed in the last year with the father, George Katz. The boy, seized a week ago

Congress Receives Half Billion Army Supply Bill Providing First Fund for Air Program

Standard Company Certificate Filed With County Clerk

Will Operate Business Here in Store Formerly Occupied by Montgomery-Ward Co. on Fair Street

The Chester Furniture Co., Inc., of Kingston, which was granted a certificate of incorporation by the secretary of state last week, has certified to the county clerk of Ulster county that it will do business at 267-269 Fair street, Kingston, under the name of Standard Furniture Co. William A. Fonerz is president of The Chester Furniture Co.

The Chester Furniture Co., Inc., under the corporation papers will have 200 shares of stock, all common of no par value and the directors of that corporation are Katherine Mann of 538 Morris street and Merton L. Zubres of 236 Morris street, Albany, and Joseph A. Woolman of 103 First street, Troy.

Under the certificate filed with the county clerk the Standard Furniture Co. will operate a business in the store formerly occupied by Montgomery-Ward Co. for several years prior to their taking over the former Rose and Gorman store on North Front street at the head of Wall street. Standard Furniture Co. operates one of the largest furniture businesses in the city of Albany.

On Tuesday workmen began operations on altering the store at 267-269 Fair street which it is understood has been leased to the new corporation.

Since Montgomery-Ward Co., for whom the building was erected, vacated the premises, it has been idle. Numerous rumors of the store being taken over by concerns as a department store have been circulated and at one time it was almost certain a new department store would be opened in the building but those negotiations fell through. Alterations on the building were commenced Tuesday morning, when several workmen began work on the large front display window.

A statement was given when the store would be ready for occupancy was not forthcoming by the owners.

August Mierop and William Short at Work on Broadway When Rush of Sewer Gas in Manhole Hits Them

August Mierop of Teller street and William Short of South Clinton avenue, employed on the WPA project of installing a new fire alarm system, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation from sewer gas while working in one of the manholes on upper Broadway, near Alban, avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

Mierop who is employed as a cable solder, and Short who is a helper, had entered the manhole, and were at work but a short time when they became ill from the fumes of gas.

They managed to climb out of the manhole unaided and notified Marshall Miller, superintendent of the fire alarm system, who is in charge of the installation of the new system, and he immediately called the Central Fire Station and Fireman Harold Sanford was hurried to the scene with the inhalator.

First aid was given Mierop and Short by Miller and Sanford and as Short was the more seriously ill he was rushed to the Kingston Hospital by Superintendent Miller where he was attended by Dr. Frank A. Johnston.

Dr. Johnston soon seen this morning stated that there was no question but that the men had inhaled sewer gas as they had all the symptoms. Mierop had not inhaled a sufficient quantity of the gas to require hospital care. Dr. Johnston said that Short had so far recovered from the effects that he would be discharged from the hospital today.

The emergency truck of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. also responded to a call and was sent to the scene.

Employees of the Central Hudson worked until 1 o'clock this morning in the vicinity of the manhole making tests to see if there were any leaks from the gas mains, but could find no trace of illuminating gas in that area.

'Middle of Road' Sentiment Several Senators Are Attempting to Oppose Showdown on Roosevelt Third Term Movement; Wheeler Fears Bitterness in Party

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Several middle-of-the-road senators were reported authoritatively today to be trying to avoid a controversy over a third term for President Roosevelt.

They were said to have urged Senator Holt (D-W.Va.) to abandon his proposed resolution to put the senate on record against a third term. Holt, however, declared he would introduce it later in the session.

Well-informed persons said the "group opposing a showdown" was headed by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), a leader in the successful battle against the Roosevelt court two years ago.

Wheeler and some other Democrats who have opposed various administration measures were described as believing that senate consideration of a third term would increase party bitterness and dampen Democratic prospects for 1940. Friends said Vice-President Garner shared his view.

One senator told reporters he had information that Mr. Roosevelt was little concerned by the Holt proposal, and that he would not urge his capital lieutenants to oppose it.

Senator Minton (D-Ind.), an administration supporter, said an anti-third term resolution undoubtedly could be defeated, but it would be useless to consider one Minton said he was confident the president does not want a third term.

Another administration lieutenant, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), said Mr. Roosevelt "has a perfect right to run again if he wants to." But he added:

"Nothing could be gained from senate consideration of a resolution against a third term. In the first place it is not the senate's duty to try to advise the executive on such matters, and in the second place it would just force another link in the chain of Democratic schisms that has already been forged."

Kelly Polls Record Central Business Primary Election Group Announces Vote in Chicago 'Booster' Campaign

Chicago, March 1 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly, backed by a powerful, smooth-working Democratic organization, polled the largest primary election vote in Chicago's history to win re-election yesterday.

The 62-year-old Democratic leader easily met the challenge of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney who entered the mayoralty primary with a reputation as a tremendous vote puller.

Mayor Kelly not only received a majority of nearly 300,000 over Courtney but also rolled up more than 50 per cent of all votes cast in both the Republican and Democratic primaries.

His opponent in the April 4 election will be Dwight H. Green, former U. S. district attorney who gained wide notice as the prosecutor of Al Capone and other gangsters.

Green captured the Republican nomination by defeating William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, a veteran of Chicago politics who was thrice mayor. Green's victory margin was better than three to one.

The Republican nominee, backed by the regular party organization, is making his first bid for elective office. Twenty years the mayor's junior, Green promised a vigorous campaign to "smash the Kelly-Nash machine."

P. A. Nash is Democratic national committeeman. The unofficial count from all but 16 of the 3,648 precincts was: Kelly, 607,180, and Courtney, 219,159, with two minor candidates polling less than 15,000. Reports from all except 15 precincts.

Voting will be recorded on all sales made in stores subscribing to the campaign fund and who are members of the Central Business Men's Association. The voting starts tomorrow and continues until May 17.

Hines May Remain Tammany Big-Wig Even Behind Cell Bars

New York, March 1 (AP)—Even if James J. Hines is placed behind prison bars, his associates predicted today, he may retain his Tammany Hall district leadership and the power he wields in the New York city Democratic party organization.

An attorney who has sat in inner councils of Tammany pointed out that while Hines' office is elective, it is unofficial. He expressed the opinion that Hines could not be forced to retire because of his conviction on charges of providing political protection for the late Dutch Schultz's lucrative policy racket.

Rumors have been current that Hines would quit Tammany's executive committee and his post as leader of the 11th assembly district, composed largely of negro, Puerto Rican and foreign voters living on the southern outskirts of Harlem.

But less than two weeks after his first trial ended last September, when the bulk of evidence on which he was later convicted had been published, Hines showed his strength in his own district by

House Appropriation Committee Gives Approval to Measure and Places it on List for Early Approval

Chavez Asks Action

New Mexico Democrat Would Have Administration Recognize Franco

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Congress, speeding along a big national defense program, received today a half billion dollar army supply bill providing the first money for President Roosevelt's $300,000,000 air corps expansion program.

The House appropriations committee gave the measure its approval and placed it on the House schedule for early consideration, while the Senate moved toward a showdown vote on the most controversial point in the $358,000,000 army expansion—the maximum strength of the army air corps.

The Senate naval committee, meanwhile, brought to the forefront again the controversial issue of whether Guam Island in the Pacific should be fortified, by ordering hearings on a Senate bill which includes a $5,000,000 authorization for a naval base on the island.

On the Senate floor, Senator Chavez (D-NM) urged that the administration "take immediate steps" to recognize General Franco's nationalist government in Spain.

The army appropriation bill proposed purchase of 734 additional planes, any or all of which the committee said could be used as replacements for present equipment or as the first increment in the proposed 3,500 to 6,000 plane increase for the Air Corps.

Conflict Over Plane Strength

The conflict in the Senate was over whether the plane strength should be the larger or smaller figure, with Senator Clark (D-Mo) predicting a close vote on an amendment increasing the plane limit from 5,500, as approved by the House to 6,000.

As to the Guam improvements, Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) said the Naval Committee decided in a closed session to consider the Senate measure instead of a similar bill passed previously by the House after that body eliminated the Guam item.

"I believe the committee has an open mind on the Guam question," Walsh said. "It wants to hear all of the evidence, pro and con before it decides."

"Dedicating Her Blood"

Chavez, in his Senate speech, asserted that "today Spain is dedicating her blood, shedding it on her own soil, as a willing sacrifice to that greatest menace to civilization—Communism."

The naval bill which the committee decided to consider would authorize expenditures not exceeding $5,000,000 for naval air bases in the vicinity of Kaneohe Bay, Midway Island; Wake Island; Johnston Island; Palmyra Island; Kodiak, Alaska; Sika, Alaska; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Pensacola, Florida; Jacksonville, Florida; Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Guam.

Authorization Bill

The House, in approving a $15,000,000 authorization bill, also eliminated a $15,000,000 item for the proposed southeastern base at Jacksonville. Senator Andrews (D-Fla.) served notice today that he would fight for retention of the southeastern base in the Senate bill.

The House inserted in the measure a $15,000,000 authorization for improvements at Tung Point, Ore. not carried in the Senate bill.

Secretary Perkins said she would call a meeting of the AFL-CIO peace negotiating committee "in less than a week."

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, advocated that the Federal government help stabilize private employment by adopting or encouraging states to adopt "the Wisconsin plan of plant reserves."

Frank M. Rogers, a Lake Forest, Ill., grain dealer, expressed opposition to cost-of-production farm bills now before Congress.

E. L. Hart, manager of the Atlanta Trade Bureau, suggested that the Interstate Commerce Commission be directed to "investigate and correct" freight rate inequalities which he said were hurting the south.

Examinations for Citizens Training

Accepting the chairmanship of Ulster county committee to assist local youths to qualify for this summer's Citizen Military Training Camps, Colonel Frank L. Meagher of 38 East St. James street, Kingston, today announced that applications would be received at that address for the many prospective candidates for enrollment this summer's camp.

Camp vacancies are becoming increasingly difficult to obtain because of the popularity of the C. M. T. C. training, the county chairman said, and urged those who desire to attend these camps, to apply immediately.

The camps are held for thirty days during July. No obligations for future military service of any kind is incurred by those governing this training. The government provides without charge, transportation to camp and return, wholesome food, uniforms, laundry service, athletic equipment, and medical attention.

Public-spirited physicians of the county have again volunteered their services to the government and will give free physical examinations to candidates for the training camps.

Young men of this county should apply for these examinations to your family doctor or to: Lieut. V. B. DeWitt, medical-receiver, New Paltz; Lieut. R. F. Stoen, medical-receiver, 172 Clinton avenue; T. F. Crowley, M. D., 137 Fair street; L. E. Sanford, M. D., 167 Clinton avenue.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Fearful

Scranton, Pa.—Emil Kiefer feared a package he received in the mail might be a bomb and summoned police.

Two officers promptly submerged the suspicious box in water. They let it soak thoroughly, then opened it cautiously.

Inside was a cake, no longer edible. It had been sent by Kiefer's sister.

Chivalrous Pensioner

Superior, Wis.—Chivalry is not dead and an 80-year-old pensioner here is living proof of the statement.

Testifying before a committee investigating the county welfare department that he had to appeal to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt before he could get enough old age assistance to live on, the aged man was asked by welfare officials to read the reply from Mrs. Roosevelt.

He refused, saying: "I never reveal the contents of any letter I receive from another man's wife."

It's the Girls Who Pay

Menominee, Mich.—There's strange goings on at St. Ignace High School during "maiden's week."

The girls have to ask the boys for dates, pay the bills, take the gentlemen home, open doors for them, put on their overshoes, wait on the outside of sidewalks, and ask for all the dances at a ball climaxed "maiden's week."

Fines, imposed by the Girls' Club, range from two to 15 cents for rules infractions.

Safety First

Oklahoma City—J. M. Gentry, state safety commissioner, has revoked the driver's license of a youth who asked that it be taken up because "several complaints have been made against my reckless driving."

Gentry said investigation proved some of the complaints "were more or less justified."

Cottage cheese may be made in any farm home without extra equipment.

GAS TAX REFORM

Since the first gasoline tax was imposed in Oregon 20 years ago, state and federal governments have collected $8,993,398,000 from the motorists of this country. The original idea was to use the tax for construction and maintenance of highways. In recent years, with other public funds low or non-existent, gas taxes have often been diverted to other uses. Last year, for example, only a little more than half of the $100,000,000 collected by New York State in motor fuel taxes was spent on its highways.

The gas tax has been an easy one to collect, but there are serious students of tax problems who say now that the thing has been carried too far. The tax is out of proportion to the cost of the product on which it is imposed.

Prof. F. G. Crawford of Syracuse University, author of a book on motor fuel taxation, urges a number of reforms in this connection. He proposes that the Federal Government surrender the gas tax entirely to the states, that county and city gas taxes be abolished, that stronger laws be enacted to prevent tax evasion, that taxes on Diesel fuel be based on the use to which the Diesel engine it put, and that constitutional amendments be passed forbidding diversion of the gas tax to pay relief and other expenses.

Certainly the situation needs study and clarification.

CALL FOR COOPERATION

The frank statement of Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, in his Des Moines address to the nation's business men, should help to restore confidence in private enterprise. That is obviously the country's great need—confidence in the continuance and increase of private profit under the capitalist system, expressed by the investment of billions in heavy industries, housing, railroads and other business fields crying for capital.

The most alarming symptom of the present situation, as Mr. Hopkins says, is the 10,000,000 unemployed. They are not only unfortunate themselves, but a drag on our general prosperity. While there is so much unemployment of men there is an equivalent unemployment of money. Our capitalism is rusting itself out in idleness. If the system we have known and trusted is to continue, it must be started on a big forward movement again, and started soon.

The government is obviously making a conciliatory gesture to business. Industry, commerce and finance seem also in a mood of conciliation. The miscellaneous public in between feels that this is almost a matter of life and death, more pressing than our foreign problems.

PACIFIC FLYING

The lower House of Congress has refused to vote funds for an air base at Guam, thereby reassuring Japan and a good many Americans. Our people do not want to get into a quarrel with the Japanese.

There is not so much concession to Japan, however, as might be supposed from that item alone. The rest of the program for air bases in the Pacific and Atlantic was almost unanimously approved. There are appropriations for Hawaii, Midway Island and Wake Island, all on the air route to the Philippines of which Guam is the last stepping-stone. There are also nearly $9,000,000 for a big air base for Kodiak Island in Alaska, about 2,500 miles from Japan, and nearly $3,000,000 for an air base at Sitka, Alaska.

The Japanese will probably not like those improvements, either. But it is hard to see how they can complain. They have been building air bases on many islands in the Pacific, some of them pretty close to American territory.

The surest thing about this whole business is that we don't want any trouble with Japan. For that reason it may be unwise to build any strong fortifications west of Hawaii. But surely we have a right to fly peacefully and to expand our flying facilities in the Pacific.

PURPOSELESS STUDY

A thirty-six-year-old student at Harvard University seems to have solved a lot of contemporary problems by the simple process of becoming a chronic student. He has been at Harvard 18 years and says he plans to continue his studies indefinitely.

This perpetual college boy finished the regular four years and doubtless got his diploma and degree. Since then he has spent 14 years as a student in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. He has just about covered the field of philosophy, but sees ahead plenty of opportunity for further study along that and other lines.

We don't quite know what to make of this fellow. We don't even know what Harvard expects to make of him. He says he has no particular goal in view. Finding a job doesn't worry him. In fact, nothing seems to worry him.

Here is someone who has attained an amazing degree of security and serenity in a most insecure and perturbed world. Still, we doubt whether many young fellows would envy him.

WORKMEN'S HOURS FOR BANKERS

The long week-end seems to be getting around at last even to bankers. Bills are pending in New York and New Jersey legislatures to make Saturday a bankers' holiday, any they are expected to pass. The people affected are said to view the matter philosophically, and even brokerage clerks believe they can endure the longer week-end.

If this comment happens to puzzle an occasional reader, it is only necessary to add that bankers have never had the easy life popularly attributed to them. Or at least the clerks and minor officials haven't. Bank hours have been short only to the public. There is always work to do before the doors open, and still more after they close.

It is workmen, rather than bankers, who have short hours nowadays.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.
 LIVING WITH HEART DISEASE

A physician can tell a patient he has kidney, stomach, intestine or even lung trouble, and he may be concerned but is not usually afraid. If, however, he is told he has heart trouble, he may immediately have visions of dropping dead on the street, and so become an actual invalid.

As a matter of fact, the heart is not a "delicate" organ. It is able to do much more work than it is ever asked to do. Thus, whether one is lying at complete rest or running at a very rapid rate to catch a train or avoid danger, the heart will pump the needed blood without trouble.

"The greater amount of work done by the body, the more forcefully does the heart work. The heart has a tremendous reserve and can adapt itself to every need. Under intense effort such as running a 100 yard race, the pulse rate may jump from 70 to as high as 200 beats a minute. The amount of blood pumped by the heart may be tripled. Yet it is impossible to strain the normal heart. Other parts of the body give way first. The muscles fail so that the individual collapses before the heart is called on for its last ounce of effort." This means that the heart has a tremendous amount of reserve power that may be called on when necessary.

Even when the heart is damaged—valves leaking and some of its muscular power lost—it can, because of this reserve power, do an "ordinary" amount of work for many years or as long as this reserve power lasts.

In speaking of this reserve power and advising heart patients not to allow themselves to become invalids, Dr. Ernest P. Boas, in My Heart, says:

"If the patient with heart disease can carry on without any symptoms, his heart reserve is excellent, and his usual activities can be carried on with safety. If certain efforts, such as climbing stairs, sweeping or carrying heavy parcels, gives rise to discomfort and fatigue, or if the patient is exhausted in the evening after his round of duties, he is overstraining himself and his heart."

The heart patient must acquire an unburdened, free manner with a sense of leisure. It is "taking it easy" that enables heart patients to live for many years.

Moscow, U.S.S.R.—Religion is frowned on in the U.S.S.R., but a lively conscience still wins admiration now and then. Newspapers recently reported with satisfaction the case of a Jew who stumped into a police station, removed his wooden leg and poured from its hollow interior a flood of diamonds and other gems, appropriated many years ago while he was working as an appraiser.

"I couldn't bear the shame of hiding treasure stolen from the Soviet Government," he explained.

Warsaw, Poland, U.S.S.R.—The Warsaw Aeroplane Works is attempting to popularize aviation by producing three moderately priced types of machines.

The first is a two-seater with a 90 horsepower motor and a maximum speed of 170 kilometers an hour. It is priced at $3,500.

Another two-seater type has a 60 horsepower motor which can reach a speed of 150 kilometers an hour. It can travel 100 kilometers on 10 liters of gasoline. It costs $5,000.

"Limited Edition" Chair

Now on Display Here

The great hurricane of September 21, 1938, which swept a 50 mile swath of destruction through the center of New England, from Long Island Sound to the Canadian border, caused many tragic deaths; left thousands of families homeless; felled millions of magnificent trees in the pine forests of Central Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire.

Now on display at the Harleberg Co. is an unusual chair which has been produced in commemoration of this memorable event by Nichols & Stone, noted New England chair craftsmen. An authentic re-creation of a graceful old thumb-back Windsor design, it is a modern expression of old Colonial chair-building tradition. The old-time chair-builders made seats of ample thickness, and their favorite wood was pine; so, in this chair (appropriately named "Hurricane" Thumb-Back) the seat is full two inches thick and is made of pine from the area which felt the full force of the hurricane.

Only a comparative few people can possess this beautiful authentic Colonial re-creation, with its attendant historic associations; for this distinguished chair is a limited "limited edition." Only a few will be made this year; none at all after December 31st. Among those who love fine design and the atmosphere of olden days, this commemorative chair is evidently destined to become an heirloom.

ALLIGERVILLE
 Alligerville, Feb. 28.—On Wednesday Ida DeGroot entertained at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Abram Crose, Mr. and Mrs. George Decker and son, Arthur Decker, Helen and Anna Hendrickson, Mrs. Mary E. Eila McNeil, Mrs. M. E. Sator and Philip Decker. All enjoyed the dinner served by the hostess. The occasion was Mrs. DeGroot's birthday and she received several gifts and cards.

Mrs. and Mrs. Earle Batelle spent the week-end at their home in the village.

Mrs. and Mrs. Earle Schoonmaker were at their home over the week-end.

The hard rain of Sunday was welcome to many as a means of taking the ice from the by-ways and lanes.

MODENA

Modena, Feb. 28.—The pinocle tournament played between teams captained by Lester and Elmer Corwin, was won by the former's team during the past week, and a supper will be served them by the losing team at a later date to be announced. Those in Lester Wager's team were Burton Ward, Frank Miller, Lauson Rhinehart, Kassel Wager, DeWitt Hoffman, Joe Doolittle, Fred Bernard Claude Wager, Peter Rooney. In the losing team of Elmer Corwin the players were Roy Dalton, Dick Coy, John Sheffield, Theodore Gelrich, Simon Dinitto, Harold Bernard, Isaac Walker, Ted Gelrich.

Mrs. Edward Hartney and Mrs. Burton Ward took part in an old-fashioned concert with a chorus of 25 voices in the Plattkill Grange Hall Saturday evening. An old-fashioned waltz contest was also conducted. Fight for National Referendum Before U. S. Takes Part in Any War Overseas Revived

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)

Washington, March 1.—The fight for a national referendum before there shall be any war overseas has been revived with such amendments as may be expected to win to its side some votes in Congress which last year were alienated.

Thus, this time the proposal does not call for a referendum if a European or Asiatic nation should attack any nation in this hemisphere, or if the United States and its possessions are attacked. This presumably will narrow the operation of the referendum solely to whether the United States shall declare war against any foreign power and send troops across the ocean, as happened in 1917.

Back of the referendum proposal is the assumption that a series of steps growing out of neutrally controversial causes an American president against his will to involve the nation in a situation from which a "rubber stamp" Congress cannot gracefully retreat. Instead of allowing Congress to decide such an issue, the idea is to submit it to a popular vote.

On its face, this seems like a powerful way to prevent war—a sure safeguard. But it really isn't in practical operation. Had the referendum been submitted to the American people the instant the Lusitania was sunk with 1,000 innocent lives lost without a single moment's warning, it is conceivable that America might have entered the war sooner than 1917. It was the restraining influence of a public opinion which preferred to let such delicate matters be decided at Washington by a patriotic President and which kept the nation from being inflamed. Had the referendum for war been possible, all the influences that make for mass promotion, including public demonstrations in which passions are readily aroused, would have been in operation. Nor need it be supposed that a referendum will take time and hence can be used as a means of delay. Congress would have the power by law to fix the time and date and machinery for registering public expression, and the chances are that a referendum could, if desired, be fulfilled within one week. If public indignation were aroused, the demand could be for instant action and the use of all modern devices of communication to collect the popular votes.

The referendum is, in theory, a democratic principle, but, if it is the way to get popular expression, then it can equally be applied to other important steps in national as well as foreign policy.

Parliamentary systems of government have, in effect, a referendum machinery, because, at any time that the majority party fails to conform to public opinion, a national administration can be overthrown and the issue carried to the people. Rather than engage in a general election, the party in power yields to what seems to be public demand, and the opposition becomes the responsible party.

In the United States today, there is a majority in the House and perhaps even in the Senate which is out of sympathy with the policies of the Roosevelt administration. Opposition elements are impatient to acquire power and authority, but not immediately. Perhaps they would be more constructive if they realized that, at any moment, they were to be precipitated into positions of complete responsibility for government, policy, as in the case abroad. If the sales of airplanes to France were wrong or if the President misconstrued the wishes of the people in foreign policy, a parliamentary system which permitted the recall of the President, as is the case with governors and mayors under various local forms of government, would quickly afford an opportunity for the expression of public opinion.

Would the coalition of independent Democrats and Republicans be ready to take over complete responsibility for national policy if we had a parliamentary system today? Hardly. And, instead, the opposition is free to criticize, to block legislation, to impair the vitality of administration proposals without having any duty to offer workable substitutes. Thus, today, the opposition to the administration is vehemently opposing the "spending" policies of the administration, but not a single proposal for national recovery by any other organized means has been offered except the general statement that recovery will come if most of the New Deal laws are repealed and business is let alone. The validity of such an assumption cannot today be challenged, but, under a parliamentary system, if the opposition came into power and didn't soon bring about re-employment of the idle and national recovery, there would be a change again.

The war referendum proposal is a symptom of the feeling which many people have that centralized government cannot be trusted, even with a Congress elected at specific intervals. This may lead to other proposals for a referendum on national issues. In several states, the referendum machinery which was established a quarter of a century ago is still functioning, though opinions vary as to its merit.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

By GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

The Characters

Peter Mallone: Adventurous journalist.
Petronella: His sister.
James: Petronella's fiancé.

Yesterday: Worried about Peter and Tony in Madrid, Petronella comes up to London for more news. She meets Clare Horton, again.

Chapter 27

Decision

"I'll tell me more about it I can't promise. There are reasons—I don't think I can go. But I might," Petronella stammered.

Clare put out a hand and touched his "My dear child, I'd quite forgotten. Of course, you have reason. I saw the announcement in the Times. I should have congratulated you. No, one couldn't expect a chance to let you go to Spain!"

"That is just over," Petronella told her. "That is the reason."

Instead of questioning her, Clare explained. "I want to make a camp somewhere in the mountains near Madrid. Soon, the city is going to fall to Franco." Clare assured her with conviction. "We shall keep the children safe while the air raids finish their job, then return them to their homes, when Madrid has surrendered."

Petronella's expression was agonized, as she met Clare's eyes. "There's nothing I'd rather do. It would be fine, to try to save something from the awful wreckage, and pain, men inflict on themselves and their children. I've seen so much suffering. I've seen children as you've seen them, pale, starving, and babies, with eyelids as mauve as crows' feet. But if only you'd ask me to go somewhere else. Not to Madrid!"

Quite bluntly, Clare suddenly asked her question. "Why?" She asked towards her. "I've known since I first met you, that we ought to be talking about you," she stated quietly. "If it can possibly help? Of course, if it can't, shut me up. I'm so used to organizing people," she smiled.

"I wish you could organize me. You—you remember Tony Lance?" Petronella asked. Clare did not pretend to know. "So he is trouble!" For a moment, Petronella was silent, while Clare waited. Then, as though she were ten years younger, she blurted out the truth. "I've loved him for years, years. I know he's no good to me, but I'm a fool, and can't help it."

One of Clare's eyebrows lifted slightly. "So you're the girl he met in Rangoon? I wondered, when he told me."

"He put me second, then, to his work. He just went off without a word."

"Yes, he told me something of the sort."

"It has been the same ever since. Whenever we've met, he has acknowledged it, and thought it unimportant. He knew I'd wait, because I couldn't help it. But he wouldn't admit he was glad of it. He didn't meet last year in Cairo. He hadn't seen me for a long time. I'd changed a great deal. I suddenly struck him that, after all, my life with Peter had turned me into a possible wife for him. So, at last, when it really suited him, he admitted that he loved me. But then—"

"Yes, tell me what happened in Cairo?"

Petronella's low, urgent, unhappy voice described the few days of loneliness and the way they had ended. Her eyes met Clare's.

"You see? Life with Tony would be like that—danger, trouble, horror. If I married him, I'd be in Madrid, now."

Clare Horton sat back. Her lips smiling, her eyes soft. She shook her head gently at Petronella. "Then that is why you love him? You can't make your own terms with love."

"But he doesn't love me enough. He can't! He let me go!" Clare stirred her tea. "When I met him in China, and he told me about you, he explained why he'd left you. He was afraid your nerve might go. Well, he was right. It did! He said you were the wrong girl to start suspense, and the right of suffering. You were!" Petronella gulped, but sat listening to this gentle reproach.

"Perhaps it was because your life with your brother never seemed permanent, or compulsory, that you stood it so long. But when you came to face marrying, and going on—"

"Turn in half!" Petronella interrupted. "I did feel like that. Tony seemed suddenly a stranger, and not worth it. I longed for him to promise me security, and he didn't. It was only when I'd had time to calm down, away from him, that I knew I still loved him. But what would have been the use of it? He doesn't love me enough to give up anything for me! I should have been miserable."

Clare bit her lower lip, unimpressed. "Well, it is perfectly obvious that you're torn in half, trying to stay away from him."

"Then—you'd go? My fiancé fell in love with another girl. You'd tell him that, that had to set him free?" Petronella challenged.

"Certainly! That was also Tony's fault!"

"You'd just go back and surrender on his terms?"

Clare smiled. "No, but I should go back. The terms won't arrange themselves so badly, if he loves you."

Petronella was thinking. At last she said, "Do you know, you're right! If the news comes that they're alive, I'll go."

"I'm glad. Go and telephone again."

Petronella did not think there could be any news yet, but there was a chance. She kept telling herself, as she dialed the News office number, and waited, that she was mad to feel this inner elation, and excitement. But the moment she heard the voice of her friend on the switchboard answering her, she knew it was justified.

"Is that Miss Mallone? Oh, we've been wanting to get you. I'll put you straight through to Mr. Rowdon."

"Petronella!" cried Martin Rowdon heartily. "We've just heard those fellows were out even English. Peter and Tony Lance haven't left Madrid. They're only just heard the rumor themselves. But they're finding it harder, and harder, to get a line."

Petronella's answer was a whimper of delight.

"Oh, boy! Here comes the fire department!"

"WOW! WHAT AN ACTION SHOT THIS! MAKE!"

"CLANG! CLANG!"

"OH, BOY! HERE COMES THE FIRE DEPARTMENT!"

St. James Men's Club
Sees Moving Pictures
Two very interesting motion pictures were shown in Clarence L. Dumm at the meeting of the Men's Club of St. James Church Monday night.

The first picture shown depicted the works of the Vermont Marble Co and showed the huge blocks of marble being quarried from the mountain, some of them being brought out from quarries underground, the work of shaping them in building blocks, pillars, monuments and shapes and articles of every variety.

One scene showed a sculptor busy putting the finishing touches of a marble duplicate of the famous painting "The Last Supper."

The second picture was of particular interest to the baseball fans, showing some of the game's leading players in action and with views and accompanying lectures explaining some of the line points of the game and details of "inside

Following the pictures a clam chowder supper was served.

The 1938-39 orange crop was estimated at more than 78,000,000 boxes, the largest on record.

Business Group Election Slated

Election of officers will take place Thursday morning at the March meeting of the Kingston Business Men's Association. The meeting will be held at the store of Sam Bernstein on Wall street at 9:30 o'clock. At that time the nominating committee appointed by President James Rowe will make its report.

In addition to the election of officers for the ensuing year, there will be other important business before the meeting, including a discussion on the spring opening display.

The association will also discuss and probably take action on the recent move of the state traffic commission to designate Route 9 on the east shore of the Hudson river on a "model" route from Albany down the Hudson valley to the New York World Fair which will open on April 30. Towns on the west shore are seeking to have the west shore route as well as the east shore route designated as alternate routes to the fair. Already a number of towns on the west shore have taken action through various associations and groups to have the west shore designated as a parallel route.

Stamps In The News

Hoping to find and conquer El Dorado, the fabled New World city with gold-paved streets, Sir Walter Raleigh came out of retirement in 1595 and sailed to South America on a voyage of exploration. At the island of Trinidad, just north of the Venezuelan coast, he burned the city of San Jose de Oruna and discovered the famous Asphalt Lake.

One of the new reign pictorials from Trinidad and Tobago depicts this find. It is the 6-cent blue and brown of the 1928 set and shows the armor-clad explorer standing beside a kneeling Indian holding a sample of the amazing substance. It probably disappointed Sir Walter because it contained no gold.

Trinidad's "lake" covers a hundred acres and was considered the world's biggest until a 1,000-acre deposit turned up in Venezuela. Cuba also has several sizable deposits.

Workmen at Trinidad dig down a foot or two with picks. Later more pitch slowly flows in from below, fills up the hole and hardens. The lake's surface is marked by irregular masses, each having its own peculiar motion. Water separates these masses. The New Trinidad Asphalt Company pays the government a royalty for the concession of working this deposit. Other stamps in the nine-stamp Trinidad-Tobago set picture various scenes and buildings on the islands, such as Mt. Irvine Bay, Tobago, and Town Hall, San Fernando.

Again The Pandanus
The pandanus tree, that exotic screw pine of Polynesia, with its weird root props and orange drupes, is making its second philatelic appearance with the new pictorial set from Gilbert and Ellice Islands. The pandanus earlier appeared on the 1911 series. First stamps designed for this British Colony after the Fiji Edward VII overprints.

Battlefield of Solferino
Finland's 1939 Red Cross set commemorates the 75th anniversary of the founding of the International Red Cross Society at Geneva in 1864 and pictures a view of the battlefield of Solferino in northern Italy where the idea of such a society was born after the furious battle of 1859.

That fight was the windup of a campaign started by Napoleon III and Victor Emmanuel I of Sardinia against the Austrians to help Italy. Franz Joseph himself was in command of 160,000 men, while the Franco-Sardinian forces numbered 150,000. The battle for this key point lasted but one day, June 24, and when it was over the combined losses totaled 59,000 dead and wounded. There was no organized care for the wounded who suffered untold agonies that night.

A man who saw the ghastly suffering at Solferino began to urge the need of organized aid for war victims. He was Jean Henri Dunant, a Swiss philanthropist who is pictured on the 20-centimes Swiss franchise stamp of 1935 (Scott's 695). His booklet, "Un Souvenir de Solferino," published in 1862, urged the need of founding aid societies backed by an international convention for their protection in war zones.

Dunant's appeal stirred the Société Genevoise d'Utilité Publique to action and the Comité International de la Croix-Rouge resulted. National committees were organized in 1863 and next year representatives of the Geneva Convention and produced the Geneva Convention, which laid down the principles the Red Cross has followed ever since.

Successful Revue
By New Y. W. Group

The newly organized Junior Business and Industrial Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. made its first public appearance last evening at the "Y" auditorium with the presentation of the revue "Flash and Dash."

Staged under the direction of Miss Ottilia Riccobono with Miss Jessie P. Ryan and Mrs. George Rose lending able assistance behind the scenes, the show was a great success, and a goodly sized audience was present.

The revue included 12 numbers of dancing and singing with solo numbers given by Edith Ellison, Mabel Brewer and Jean DuBois, and two skits, "Hiring a School Ma'am" and "It Happens Every Day." The comedy act "The Umbrella Man" left the audience laughing uproariously as the girls, dressed as men, added to the comedy by losing their mustaches at frequent intervals.

At the conclusion of the program Miss Riccobono was presented with a corsage of tulle and roses in appreciation of her efforts in making the first program a success.

Dancing followed the revue with the Maroon and White Syncopators playing for the dancing. Refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Ethel Every and Miss Evelyn Corey.

K.H.S. Nips Poughkeepsie At Auditorium by 37-34, Murphy Stars for Maroon

Kingston High School's basketball machine took a page from Frank Merrill's book last night on the auditorium boards in winning its most-earned victory over a stubborn Poughkeepsie team by the close margin of 37 to 34. Helping to pry loose that page was Andy Murphy who, until he was thrown out of the game late in the final period, sparked the Klasmien in sensational play. It looked as though the Maroon and White warriors would bow in their second straight encounter until they snapped out of their lethargy in the third period. Poughkeepsie led from the start. In the third and final quarters, however, Kingston plowed in and took the driver's seat.

Although this was a non-DUSO League tilt the Klasmien really wanted the win. A great record of 33 consecutive triumphs was hanging over them as far as the auditorium was concerned. With the Blue and White representatives out of the way Kingston is sure to finish an undefeated home season.

Murphy Makes 12
High scoring honors of the evening went to Dick Whitsell, who seemed to be right at home on the court. Dick fashioned himself 13 markers. Seamon gained 10 in a losing cause. Of course, Andy Murphy was the man for the locals with 12 points.

With Dick Whitsell supplying the power needed Poughkeepsie, after watching the Maroon basketballers take the lead, came back and overtook them in the first period. Harry Flowers opened the game in fine style by pegging home a neat field after taking Jess Shults' pass. As the initial session rolled on Whitsell checked in five of the seven points while Flowers managed to get four.

In direct opposite from the opening canto the Klallochmen bounded into a big lead as the second session got under way. McDonald and Whitsell steamed in to register layups. Poughkeepsie retained her slim lead until midway in the period and then applied the crusher. Kingston's lone marksmen were Flowers, Murphy and Jess Shults. But the efforts of the Klasmien went for absolute nothing in comparison with Poughkeepsie's tossing. The half ended with the visitors holding a 22 to 12 margin and another loss for the Maroon seemed inevitable.

Throughout the first half Poughkeepsie not only took advantage of some set and layups, but also of height. Giants such as Seamon, McDonald, Francisco and Whitsell overshadowed Kingston's best.

Klasmien Open Up
After about two minutes of passing Kingston came to life and slapped Poughkeepsie recklessly with dazzling shots from all corners. George Dougherty, playing a swell game in the place of Milt Dubin, opened with a sizzling one-handed wheel-around. Murphy dribbled in for another field. Harry Flowers kept up the surge as he whacked in a beautiful shot with his back to the basket.

Harry took Ran Van Buren's pass, leaned back and arched the ball into the hoop while facing his own basket. Flowers' two-point shot made it 22-18. Poughkeepsie was puzzled by this spurge of scores.

Once again the Klasmien had the fans on their feet as Andy Murphy soloed up the side, feinted in and flipped a corker into the hoop for the near-equalizer. Dougherty's side shot tied the count at 22-all. Dick Whitsell, trying hard to offset this sensational play by Kingston, rocked in with a set flip but Kingston tied it again as Jess Shults poked in a sizzler from the side.

All of the thrills and chills of that historic Middletown game came back as Bobby McDonald once again scored a pretty one in giving his team a two-point lead. Coming off the side Murphy dribbled in, passed out to Van Buren and then took the relay for another popper, making the score 26-26 as the period expired.

Undaunted by the show of Kingston, Seamon pushed in a set but Shults riddled one from the side. Seamon again tallied. Kingston finally jumped into a commanding lead on shots by Murphy and Van Buren.

After making another shining play, Andy Murphy was tossed out due to four personals and Eddy Hughes came in. Eddy poured a helpful foul but Hughes paged in a long lifter. Murphy scored in a long lifter. Making in 35-31. Dougherty's set gave Kingston its final markers. Poughkeepsie kept up the belated fight. Dick Whitsell pushed in a field and foul but his efforts were three points too short.

White Eagles Tounce Their Wappinger Falls Foes, 55-30

Tuesday night, the White Eagles, playing at home on their Delaware avenue court, overwhelmed the Wappinger Falls basketballers by the score of 55-30 as Frankie Tatarszewski went to town for the Polish eagles for 19 points in two 10 minute quarters for high tally of the contest.

The Eagles started early and were out in front at the half by 18-4. Hudson with nine and Van Noorhals with seven were the only Wappingers boys able to do any kind of scoring. Janasiewicz made nine for the Eagles and Wait Tatarszewski seven to follow Frankie Tatarszewski, the star point-maker of the fray.

Saturday night's game with Rosendale has been cancelled by Manager Frank Wojciechowski because most of his players are employed that night.

In the preliminaries last night, the Ponchockie All Stars lost to the Wildcats, 12-6, and the Buccaneers defeated the Eagles 40-33.

Crucial College Contests Tonight

New York, March 1 (AP)—Whether the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball Conference will wind up in a photo-finish—and probably a play-off—may be settled to some degree by tonight's two games.

Georgetown, the leader, plays Penn State, which is tied with Carnegie Tech for second place. Carnegie lacks West Virginia on the mountaineers' court at Morgantown.

While the Eastern Intercollegiate League season may be starting all over again since Dartmouth's defeat, there's a chance that Columbia or Pennsylvania may be eliminated as possible title contenders tonight. Tonight Columbia's small but speedy team plays at home against Harvard while Penn visits Princeton.

A Philadelphia-New York series is scheduled in tonight's double header at Madison Square Garden. Temple, last year's conference champion, meets New York University, while Villanova, one of the leading "Independents," plays City College of New York.

The mighty Long Island University team hung up its 20th straight victory and its last at home by routing John Marshall, 65-25, last night.

War Admiral Has High Fever
Miami, Fla., March 1 (AP)—If one thing doesn't happen to horse races, it's another. Now War Admiral is running a fever, and there's doubt whether he will run in the $50,000 Widener Cup race Saturday at Meadowlands.

After having trained beautifully for months and having shown his old speed in his first effort of the season on February 15, Samuel D. Riddle's long-striding thoroughbred has picked this time to be "poorly."

War Admiral's trainer, George Conway, is supposed to say today whether he will let the Admiral run Saturday. His pet had a temperature of close to 102 degrees, against a normal of about 100. Conway said flatly that he wouldn't let the Admiral run for a purse of 10 times $50,000 if he thought the horse wasn't feeling good.

KELLY'S CORNER • By JOE KELLY

First All DUSO Team Picked—Roxborough Puts Up Cash

As the high school basketball season draws to a close, Dick Whitsell, coach of the Jaycees, and Joe Garland have nominated their All-DUSO team: Howie Havens and "Yutch" Meadow, forwards; Lou Hasbrouck, center; Freddie Speiser and Andy Murphy, guards.

Irwin Thomas, high school correspondent for The Freeman, will issue his official list shortly. Friday's DUSO game with Ellenville at the auditorium will be the finale. Chuck Henke expects a bunch of smiling Badmintoners at the "Y" tonight when that picture is taken.

He's planning a tournament and will discuss the plans at tonight's meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

Nat Frankel (look J. E.) is right up there among the 10 leading scorers of the American Basketball League. The order is Phil Robin 309, Moe Dubilier 305 (Noc's getting closer and closer), and Frankel 251.

Sammy Kaplan is among the top fight scorers, too, with 217 points. It took three stitches to sew up a cut on Frankel's head the other night.

One of those spills on a date with Washington at the auditorium tonight and Thursday at the Wilkes-Barre Barons at White Plains means that Barney Sedran's Colonials are a busy bunch.

We all hope that Kate Smith will be able to make the American League game here next week.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS
By The Associated Press
St. Petersburg, Fla.—Paul Kirchell's target which he devised to help the pitchers learn control, and Rookie Charley Keller from Newark are two main points of interest in the New York Yankees' camp. The target won't be tested until the fingers are ready to cut loose but Keller already has been performing with his big bat and it's reported he can hit a ball farther into left field than any Yankee since Babe Ruth.

Clearwater, Fla.—Although the Brooklyn squad has been pretty thoroughly overhauled since last season, Manager Leo Durocher still is looking for one more player. What he wants is someone like Pat Crawford, who was so valuable to the Cardinals five years ago. "He could play any position in the infield or outfield," Leo explained, "and what a pinch hitter!"

Bradenton, Fla.—With one casualty already reported, Manager Stengel of the Boston Bees is bearing down on his pitchers and catchers. Freddy Frankhouse was hit on the knee by a batted ball during the first session, but escaped with a bruise.

Hot Springs, Ark.—It was Second Baseman Carl Hubbell as the New York Giants chose up sides for a game yesterday, but it still was his throwing arm that counted. The famous southpaw's southpaw had some hard throws to make and he didn't spare his arm a bit. He even helped complete a fast double play.

Avalon, Calif.—While Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs is finding it hard to keep Dizzy Dean from bearing down too much, warning him repeatedly against straining the arm he hurt last year, the second squad of infielders and outfielders starts west tonight. They'll be here for a workout Sunday.

Orlando.—According to rumor, Clark Griffith of the Senators is reopening negotiations for a trade with Detroit. He is after Rudy York or Budie Tobeatts and offering Cecil Travis as bait.

The Senators need right-handed hitting since disposing of Al Simmons and Zeke Bonura.

Her radio rehearsals will make it necessary to operate on Tuesday instead of Wednesday if she decides to be at the auditorium to see the Colonials play the Viesies.

Wait Jaghers almost upset Freddie Plancher in the City Billiard match at Nick's last night.

But Freddie, the old shark, finally came out on top 100-93.

Dave Brooks, city Junior champ, meets Bob East tonight.

Pat Comiskey, the young Irish-American heavyweight, has enough offers to keep him boxing seven nights a week.

He's been asked to meet George James, Welsh heavy, in London for $5,000.

John Roxborough, co-manager of Joe Louis, is supposed to be busy with the John Henry Lewis-Bankroll fight in Detroit, March 31.

Eddie Britz of The Associated Press, says John Henry is still high-weight champ in almost every state except New York and Rhode may wake up April 1 to find himself manager of two world champions.

Al Schacht, heading from New York to Florida, had a heck of a time before taking off because he forgot where he parked his car the night before.

Those Baltz boys looked good scoring those 32 points in one period against the Hercules last night.

Wall Scharp, the Joe Palooka of The Freeman composing room, was in a mood to celebrate today.

The reason: His bowling team defeated the Freeman No. 3 bunch last night by 51 pins.

Palooka's team is listed as the Type Lice.

Managers Admit Holdout Problem
New York, March 1 (AP)—Now that all the major league ball clubs have a batch of players in training camp or enroute there, even the hard-to-convince business managers are beginning to admit there is a holdout problem again this year.

The bosses seldom if ever call a player a holdout until he fails to turn up in camp. Then they usually try to laugh it off with the suggestion that he's probably on his way and bringing his contract along. But they're having a hard time getting around the determined statements of such stubborn scents as Paul Waner, Joe Mauer, Dick Cullen, Duck Newsum and Luke Appling.

Not Enough
Coffman is perhaps the latest to become an admitted holdout. He conferred with Manager Bill Terry of the Giants at Hot Springs and got nothing but an ultimatum. Terry said the veteran finger had been given a raise in mid season last year and another for the coming campaign and that would be all. To this Dick replied, "But it still ain't enough."

The others haven't made much noise after their first loud assertions that the salaries offered were much too low, and the holdout arguments mostly have reached the waiting stage. Mungo, offered a cut from $15,000 to $5,000, has shipped back two contracts and says he'll stay in Pangeland, S. C., unless he's offered a lot more. And boss Larry MacPhail retorts: "I hope he does."

The older Waner also has returned the proffered document twice with the remark, "It must have been written with a surgeon's knife."

with Detroit. He is after Rudy York or Budie Tobeatts and offering Cecil Travis as bait.

The Senators need right-handed hitting since disposing of Al Simmons and Zeke Bonura.

Washington Here Tonight, Colonials Play Tomorrow At White Plains Court

The Colonials take on the Heurich Brewers of Washington tonight at the municipal auditorium, and Thursday compete against the Wilkes-Barre Barons at the Westchester Community Center, White Plains.

Those two contests are important to the Kingston representatives in the American League.

They are now two games and a half in the lead, but the Sphas are right on their heels, pennant bound Manager Barney Sedran is exceedingly anxious about the two games, and, despite the favoritism on the side of Kingston, is keeping his fingers crossed.

Sedran saw his highly rated club bow to the lowly Troy Haymakers upstate, and now, with his club hounded by the injury jinx is doubly cautious.

Carl Johnson is out with a broken finger, Pete Henderson is not in the best of condition but still in uniform ready to enter the battle if necessary, and Harry Fitzpatrick is suffering from an injured elbow.

Manager Joe Dreyfus, whose club is being sparked by Milt Schoenfeld, one of the leading scorers of the American loop, has a string of young southern collegians that he is trying out and hopes to see some of them show just what is needed tonight to overthrow the Colonials.

Despite a heavy injury that required three stitches, Nat Frankel, Sammy Kaplan, Chiek Reiser, a regular starter for Kingston now that Johnson is out of the lineup, and Bernie Fleigel, who has hit his outtime scoring form again, make up the list of shooters upon whom Manager Sedran will depend to do the point collecting

Legion Planning Party March 20

Detail arrangements for the gala second annual birthday party of Kingston Post, American Legion, were made at a meeting of the committee at the Legion building, and judging from the plans outlined this year's event promises to eclipse even the high standard set last year.

Monday evening, March 20, has been set as the date and the spacious ball room of Spinnys at Port Ewen as the place. Since the national celebration of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion at Paris, France, will last five days, beginning March 15, the date selected by the local post will be well in line. The date also marks the 19th anniversary of the founding of Kingston Post.

The following committee members will be in charge of the various phases of the party: Past commanders and past auxiliary presidents assembly, Lester C. Elmendorf; reception, Edward J. Luettke; entertainment, William T. Roedel; birthday cake, Lester Barth; decorations, Roy E. Jacob; distinguished guests, A. J. Murphy; Legion fun and frolic, Thomas J. Murray and Jerry Martin; tickets, P. J. Beichert, Harry L. Kirschner, John T. Groves, Alfred Messenger, A. Theodore Young, George A. Dittmar, Edmund J. Coughlin, John Melville, Thomas J. Morrissey, E. B. Carey and Eugene Freer.

The party will be informal and is planned not only for Legionnaires and their wives but also for their friends. An evening of real Legion festivities with fun and frolic is in store for those attending. The floor show, which is being secured direct from New York by Entertainment Chairman William T. Roedel is expected to surpass anything the local post has ever done in this respect. Details on the program will be released in a few days.

What Legislature Is Doing Today

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Today in New York's Legislature: Both Senate and Assembly convene at 11 a. m. to act on minor legislation.

A joint legislative committee will hold a public hearing (2 p. m., E. S. T.) on a bill recodifying the state's insurance laws. Another public hearing will be held by the Senate's cities committee and the ways and means committee of the Assembly on 11 bills dealing with slum clearance and low cost housing.
